

angle and a clamp position-adjustable LOOK ergo post, this $3,999 frameset is made for going fast. www.look-usa.com or www.veltecsports.com

SALTSTICK

The SaltStick is a salt-tablet dispenser that uses a spring-loaded canister that fits inside an aerobar extension and dispenses up to six capsule-style tablets with the twist of the dial. Normann Stadler and Heather Fuhr were among those who used the $20 SaltStick in their aerobars in Kona. Available in standard size and three-capsule minis for road drop bars. www.saltstick.com

SCOTT CR1 PLASMA TEAM

The Plasma Team, co-created with input from Ironman winners Cameron Brown and Steve Larsen, features the same design as the bikes ridden by Cam and Steve in Kona in October (that is, a lightweight carbon frame with a unique 76-degree cut-to-fit aero seat mast). All aerotubes with a lighter component spec (a Shimano 105/Dura-Ace mixed groupset and Mavic Ksyrium Equipe wheelset) keep the bike price at a reasonable $3,349 complete. www.scottusa.com

1ST ENDURANCE MULTI-V

As a result of the physical stress that intense training and racing can place on our taxed bodies, plus the added exposure incurred while traveling, comes the need for enhanced protection. 1st Endurance responds with the $49 Multi-V, an athlete-specific multi-vitamin that promises to not only help ward off illness but also aid daily recovery via CarboGen, an enzyme blend shown to improve carb utilization, thus delaying the onset of fatigue. www.firstendurance.com

